

Unemployment Compensation: Separation Issues

Understanding Unemployment Compensation (UC) separations can be challenging for both employers and claimants.

This employer seminar will explain how UC determines eligibility when an employee voluntarily leaves or has been discharged from a job.

The seminar will explain the process used when investigating and issuing determinations relating to quits and discharges, including:

- What are the steps taken in the fact-finding process?
- How is a ruling issued without fact-finding information from a party?
- What factors determine if a separation is a quit or a discharge?
- What determines burden of proof?
- How are certain exceptions under the federal Trade Readjustment Act factored into determinations?
- What additional steps are available if there is a disagreement with the determination?
