LOCAL INSURANCE AGENT RECOGNIZED

Danville, PA, July, 2025—John D. Yoder, Commercial Insurance Adviser and Christian Baker Co. of Central PA recently was awarded the designation of Certified Professional Insurance Agent (CPIA), a professional designation conferred by the CPIA Program Office.

John D. Yoder's successfully completed three CPIA Seminars as well as the course review required for each. The CPIA designation stands for professionalism, commitment to sales training and results, and technical knowledge. The designation does require an annual continuing education update.

The CPIA Designation Program is the only program dedicated solely to recognizing training and service quality among property and casualty insurance personnel. The mission of the CPIA Program is to improve the skills and insurance knowledge of its members by upgrading professionalism through information and education, which will result in providing better service to the insurance-buying public.

Founded in 1938, Christian-Baker Company exists to provide commercial and personal insurance to our clients while setting a standard of excellence. By providing exceptional service and competitive product offerings, we partner with our clients to ensure their interests are comprehensively protected. Every day the Christian Baker team will strive to hold ourselves to the highest ethical standards while serving our clients, carriers, and communities.

A lifelong resident of our area, John resides in Danville with his family and has had his insurance licenses for more than 20 years.
